Structures and processes in quality management

As pharmaceutical consultants, we analyse and optimise internal processes in GxP-regulated environments. As an established service provider for the pharmaceutical industry, we have a wide range of experience and know the market inside out. As a result, we are able to assess companies' strengths and challenges within the context of their respective specialised demands. Our GxP consultancy services make an active contribution to optimising organisation, designing processes that are both more transparent and more efficient, and tangibly reducing costs.

Diapharm's pharma consulting services include:

- Analysing and uncovering potential
- Organisational development
- Change management
- Process optimisation
- Key performance indicator (KPI) systems

We attach particular importance to engaging employees and getting them actively involved. A dialogue between partners increases acceptance of long-term change and encourages active participation.

Diapharm supports companies in the healthcare industry when it comes to their self-assessment on the basis of industry best practices and develops specific courses of action as part of business process optimisation (BPO). Our consultants' hands-on experience in the pharmaceutical industry ensures that we always develop pragmatic and professional concepts.

If requested, we would be more than happy to manage the implementation of optimised GxP processes at your place of business.
